Look what we've been doing!

Wow what a fantastic celebration assembly! It was wonderful to share it with so many of you. We are sure you are extremely proud of all the children. We certainly are and couldn't have asked for a better performance. The actors were all loud and clear and showed off their theatrical skills. The dancers worked well in their groups and kept in time to the music. The singing was amazing and the soloists were outstanding. Every child's enthusiasm enhanced the final performance. The strong moral message also resonated. We're sure a few tissues were required in the children's rendition of That's What Friends Are For!

This year we have really noticed the strong friendships across the year group and are sure that these will continue to develop well into the future.

We had another busy week of sport. At the beginning of the week both classes had a P.E lesson together. They worked in mixed teams with a selection of equipment and had to invent a new game. The children tested out their ideas, adapted them and then taught them to another group. We were surprised by their ingenuity and variety of ideas. The lucky Year Twos who visited Wimbledon had a brilliant time. Further details of their extraordinary day are reported in the school weekly news.

Many thanks to Miss James for inspiring so many dancers this year. Both the boys and girls have really enjoyed their dance lessons and we know that they would all agree that dance is cool and fun. We really are lucky to have such a talented dance teacher.

In Geography this week the children made comparisons between their lives and the lives of children in Kenya. They discussed and recorded similarities and differences.

We hope the children told you all about their visit to the Junior school. They should have brought home a pack of activities to complete during the holidays.

Home learning

We think that the children deserve a well-earned rest. Enjoy the sunshine and have some fun!

Reminders and messages

Please make sure that all school books and any equipment you may have at home are returned before the end of term.

P.E kits will be sent home mid-week. Please make sure you have the correct items of clothing and footwear.

If anything is missing then please check lost property as there are still many unclaimed items.

Have a lovely weekend!
